Executive Summary

The User Experience Gap

The survey reveals a disconnect between the Association's variety of activities and its online visibility. Respondents are engaged, many have been members for 3 years or more, but they struggle with outdated or altogether missing information and confusing navigation with the majority of them stating that the website doesn't cover their needs.

Key takeaways

Primary Goal of Users

Seeking information on events, news, and specific activities (Photography, Philosophy, Greek Dance, Arts). Most of the respondents don't visit the website as it doesn't cover their needs.

Key Point for Improvement

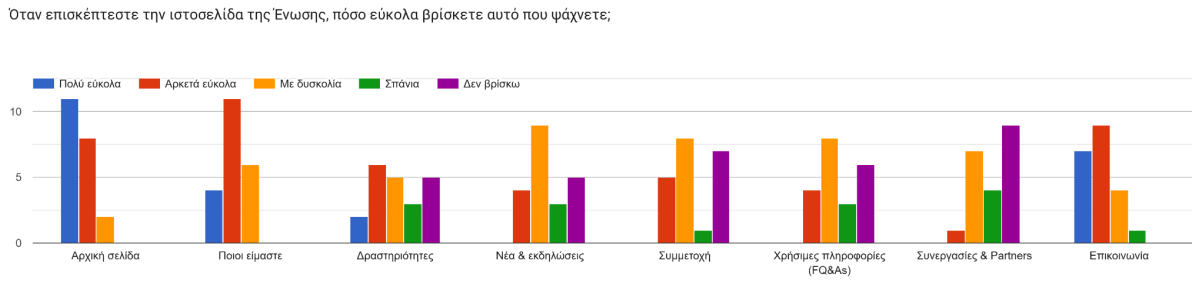
Users find it difficult to locate specific information on sections such as "Activities", "Q&As", "News & Events" and "How to Join".

Main Insights

1. Navigation & Information Availability

Users reported significant difficulty in finding specific categories.

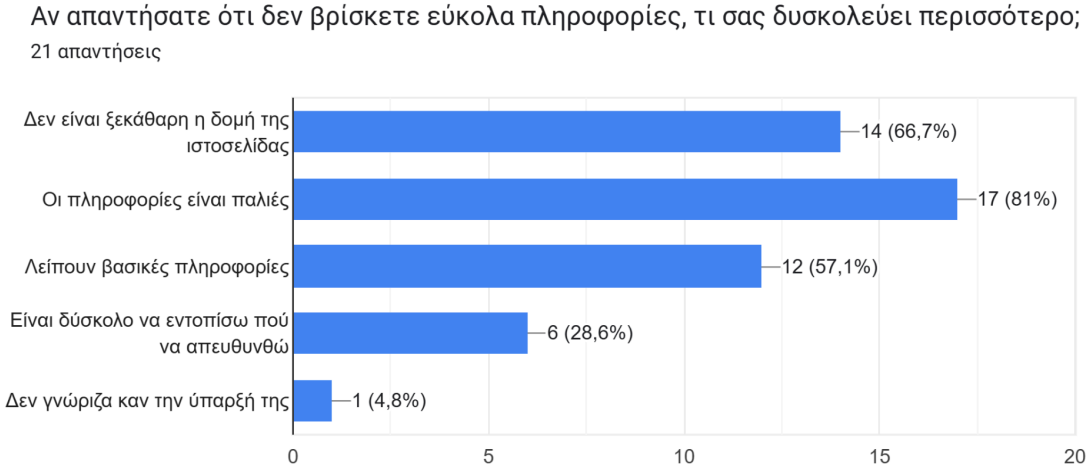
- While the Homepage is generally accessible, deeper sections like News & Events, FAQs, and Partnerships are rated as "Difficult" to "Very Difficult" to navigate.
- Outdated Content: A recurring complaint is that information is not current, or is missing altogether, leading to a loss of trust in the website as a primary source.



2. Social Media function as the Website

- The "Social Scroll" Fatigue: Users mentioned that finding past or future events on social media is frustrating because of the endless scrolling.

- The Need for a Central Hub: There is a clear demand for an automated or synchronized event calendar on the website that is searchable, so users don't have to rely on social media.



4. Core User Needs

To satisfy the the community, the new website must fulfill these requirements:

Need	Description
Real-time Updates	A dedicated, easy-to-update section for news and upcoming events.
Clear Participation Path	"How to become a member" or "How to join a group" should be a 1-click process.

Searchability	An internal search engine or clear tagging for activities (e.g., "Photography", "Philosophy").
Resource Library	A clean space for FAQs and "Useful Information" for Greeks living in the Netherlands. Membership & Registration ● How can I become a member of the Association and what does the registration include? ● What are the different types of membership (regular, candidate, etc.) and who are they for? ● How and when do I pay my annual subscription fee? ● How can I apply to become a volunteer? Activities & Events ● Where can I find the full list and the annual program of activities? ● Where can I find specific details (date, time, location) for upcoming events? ● Can I participate in activities or programs that have already started? ● How do I participate in events, and is membership required to join? Communication & Visiting ● When is the Association open to the public so I can visit the space and meet the members? ● Where can I find reliable updates if I don't see your posts on social media? ● Is there a way to search for events on the website so I don't have to scroll through social media feeds?

5. Technical Requirement Suggestions

This section is specifically for the design and development team to guide the backlog:

- Dynamic Event Calendar: Implement a robust calendar system. Ideally, it should allow for filtering by category (e.g., workshops vs. social meetups).
- Information Hierarchy Overhaul: Redesign the Menu/Sitemap. Prioritize Events, Activities, and Contact in the primary navigation.
- Mobile-First Approach: Given that users often check events "on the go" via social media links, the mobile experience must be seamless.
- "Call to Action" (CTA) Optimization: Create prominent buttons for "Join Us" or "Renew Membership" on the homepage.
- Social Media Integration: Consider an API integration that pulls recent posts into a "Latest News" feed on the site to reduce manual double-posting.
- Content Management System (CMS) Training: The backend must be simple enough for non-technical staff to update information regularly, ensuring content never becomes "old."

6. Websites for Inspiration

- Creative Mornings Rotterdam
- European Cultural Foundation: Users specifically noted this site is easy to navigate and shares a similar mission. It handles complex information (grants, stories, events) without feeling cluttered.
- Maaspodium (Maas TD)
- SKVR
- Kaan Architecten
- Art Traces (Tinos Project): Cited as a "good example" for presenting projects and research. If the Association wants to showcase its history or specific archives, this is the layout to mimic.
